

Ted Ruddock to Direct Operations at The Colony at Half Moon

The Colony at Half Moon has appointed Ted Ruddock as director of operations to oversee the development of 30 ultra luxury villas in the exclusive Rose Hall area near Montego Bay, Jamaica.

The Colony at Half Moon is a unique development offering the opportunity to own a spacious 3, 4 or 5 bedroom villa within the highly acclaimed Half Moon Resort. Scheduled to open in 2010, the Colony at Half Moon will occupy a prime 13-acre oceanfront site within the 400-acre Half Moon resort and include access to the resort's world class facilities.

This new role marks a return to Half Moon for Ted Ruddock who was resident manager between 1963 and 1967 reporting to general manager, Heinz Simonitsch. His last role was as managing director of the prestigious Tryall Club in Montego Bay. He has extensive experience of managing up market developments including Frenchman's Cove in Jamaica, the Royal Canadian Yacht Club and overseeing the building and opening of a new 4-star hotel in London.

British-born Ruddock trained and worked in Europe including the Grosvenor House Hotel, Park Lane in London, two of England's top 5 star hotels in the 50s the Grand in Eastbourne and Carlton Hotel in Bournemouth and the Schweizerhof in Berne Switzerland before moving to Jamaica.

Ted Ruddock comments: "When I left Half Moon in 1967 it consisted of a group of cottages around Half Moon Bay and over the years it has grown and developed to become the Caribbean's most complete resort. The Colony at Half Moon will be the latest addition offering the most luxurious accommodation at the Half Moon Resort.

"The Colony at Half Moon presents an opportunity to own a home from home with the added touch of personal service offered by a full complement of staff including a butler, cook, housekeeper, laundress and gardener.

"Personalised service will be a key element of our offering with each villa team getting to know owners' preferences and ensure that everything is set up exactly to their liking."

Facilities available at the Half Moon Resort include the recently renovated Robert Trent Jones Sr.-designed championship golf course, a golf academy, Fern Tree, the Spa at Half Moon - a new multi-million dollar facility offering personalised spa programmes, an equestrian centre, a dolphin lagoon, the Anancy Children's Village, 13 flood-lit tennis courts, a variety of watersports, numerous bars and restaurants, a shopping village and two miles of beaches.

Pre-construction prices for villas at The Colony at Half Moon start from US$2.4 million.
